

Social media comment policy

The Queensland Mental Health Commission uses social media to inform and educate the public about the work of the Commission, and mental health, alcohol and other drugs and suicide prevention and related topics more broadly. We also share notable work from across the sector that contributes to system reform.

At this time, we hold accounts on the following channels: LinkedIn, Facebook, X, Instagram and Vimeo.

Each of these social media platforms are operated by third parties with their own privacy policies, and the Queensland Government's Privacy Policy does not apply. The specific privacy policies for each of these channels can be found here: LinkedIn, Facebook, X, Instagram and Vimeo.

While the Commission's social media pages are intended to be a discussion forum, it is also important that comments do not offend, stigmatise or traumatise our audiences. When contributing, please do not post comments or materials that contain:

- profanity, obscenity, vulgarity, threats or abuse
- comments that could be considered prejudicial, racist or inflammatory
- nudity or offensive imagery in comments or profile pictures
- defamation to a person or people
- name calling and/or personal attacks
- spam comments from individuals or groups, such as the same comment posted repeatedly on one or more posts on a single profile
- personal information about you or another individuals (including identifying information, email addresses, phone numbers or private addresses)
- commercial content or unauthorised advertising.

The Commission retains the right to remove content that does not comply with the policy or that the Commission deems inappropriate.
